ARCHITECTS DRAWING of the proposed vocational-technical skills center to be built near New Madrid.

No School Levy Increase for Vocational Center

NEW MADRID — No increase in the school levy is planned by the New Madrid County R-1 enlarged school board to construct and equip a $3,418,000 vocational-technical skills center south of New Madrid.

A $1.1 million bond issue election is set for Oct. 6, and if approved by district voters, a matching $1,624,000 grant approved in November of 1969 by the Economic Development Administration will be provided. The district's accumulated building fund is expected to be sufficient to meet the remaining costs of $294,000.

Current school levy is $3.51 per $100 assessed valuation, which includes a 51 cent increase voters approved in April. District valuation in 1969 was $35,050,935. District valuation in 1970 will show a slight increase, as total county valuations show a two per cent increase over the prior year.

The federal grant was made available to the district, which comprises 547 square miles, because New Madrid county is designated a redevelopment county, and development of St. Jude Industrial Park, home of the giant Noranda complex, is creating jobs for skilled technical employees.

One of the pre-requisites in attracting industrial firms to the area is availability of technically skilled labor.

The new vocational-technical school is designed to complement the district's educational program, which includes five high schools at New Madrid, Matthews, Parma, Lilbourn and Portageville.

When the district was re-organized in 1968, construction of a vocational-technical school was proposed to provide a square feet, will include over 20 comprehensive educational classrooms, shops, laboratory, program. This program, the board states, will ensure retention of more young people in the area, because the learned skills will fit into the growing industrial complex.

The center will be constructed on an 80 acre tract south of New Madrid at the Interstate 55 overpass on the west side of highway 61. The facility, containing 101,800 comprehensive educational classrooms, shops, laboratory, program. This program, the and auxiliary services.

The center will serve high school students, drop-outs, and adults.

Dr. George S. Reuter was named superintendent of the 7,000 pupil district in February. District board members are Arvil Adams, Portageville, president; Tom Maschmeyer, Lilbourn, vice president; Markus Koch, Matthews, secretary; A. C. Riley, New Madrid, Paul E. Mahar, Marston, and Hoyt Butler, Parma.

Dip in Inflation Claimed in Spite of Living Cost Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs posted the third straight monthly rise of four-tenths of one per cent in July. However, the government said today that, when seasonal factors were considered, it represented a slight easing of the nation's worst inflation in 20 years. Price increases for food, transportation, medical care and some housing costs were the major factors in last month's rise that pushed the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index up to 13.7.

The figure means it took $13.57 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1967-68 period on which the index is based.

Service Award for Area Youth Agent

CORVALLIS, Ore. — William Purnell, Charleston, Mo., area youth agent in Butler, New Madrid, Scott, Stoddard and Mississippi counties in the Missouri Bootheel, was honored here last night at the annual meeting of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

He was one of five University of Missouri extension workers receiving thyNACAA's distinguished service award. The others were Joseph Adams, Booneville, Area Agronomy Agent; Ray Davis, Troy, Area Extension director; Gerald Meinke, Palmyra, Area Farm Management Agent; and Vincent Raaf, Linn, Area Livestock Agent.

Purnell, a 16-year extension worker.

He is known for his interest in and devotion to youth, especially the disadvantaged. Among his accomplishments is his work as director of activities for the Delta Little Acorn Youth Camp. That accomplishment resulted in camping experience for boys and girls from low income families.

Purnell was 1969 University of Missouri Extension Association state secretary and served on the UMEA committee for youth programs. He has a bachelor of science degree from Alcorn A & M College, Lorman, Miss., and a masters in education degree from UMC. He has taken additional academic work at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Colorado State University, Wayne State University at Detroit, and the University of Honolulu.

Storm Displaces Hundreds

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — Homeless hundreds took shelter in schools and churches Thursday night in the wake of a sudden storm that swept through this nickel mining area near Lake Huron. Authorities said at least four people were killed, 150 were injured and property damage totaled millions of dollars.

The storm, packing torrential rain and winds of up to 90 miles an hour, smashed through the nearby communities of Lively and Copper Cliff, into the southern edge of Sudbury and on to the logging community of Field, 45 miles to the east.

It left buildings in ruins, uprooted trees and concrete sidewalks, smashed windows and vehicles and cut power and telephone lines.

Lead Danger Not Acute

GLOVER, Mo. (AP) — Residents of this Iron County community, who registered alarm last month over emissions from a nearby American Smelting and Refining Co. plant, have been advised the danger is not acute.

A Missouri Department of Health official, Dr. S.B. Beecher, said blood tests on 12 area residents showed no excessive lead concentrations.

However, Beecher said, study of possible danger will continue for from six months to a year and a surveillance of the emissions will be maintained.

Blood tests taken on the area residents showed .027 parts of lead per million in their blood compared to .08 parts, which is considered lead poisoning.

Blighted Corn Gas Lethal

GRIFFIN, Ga. (AP) — Farmers are being warned by state agriculture officials about a potentially lethal gas that can be given off by silage made from blighted corn.

The gas—nitrogen dioxide—can form in silos where newly made silage from corn affected by Southern leaf blight has been stored.

It can cause death after short exposure.

Marshall E. McCullough, a staff member at the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station here, said farmers should be extremely cautious when entering silos where corn silage is stored.

He said the gas, which is heavier than air, is yellowish-brown in color and smells like some laundry bleaches.

He said it is most dangerous the second day after the silo is built and usually takes a minimum of ten days to dissipate.

Warrant Issued After Holdup

CHARLESTON — A felony warrant on a charge of armed robbery has been issued for James Moore, 20, of Charleston.

The warrant, issued by the police department, was filed after Moore was identified by Mrs. Dolly O'Guin, owner of the O'Guin Launderama, who was robbed Wednesday night.

Fire Hazard Eliminated

Firemen were called to East Malone and Reuben yesterday following the two-car collision of Robert Earl Morris, 25, of route two and Thomas Brothers of Cape Girardeau. A fire hazard existed when gasoline spread out on the highway. Firemen hosed the gasoline off the street.

A brush fire at Bob's Salvage on West Malone was patrolled by firemen yesterday morning.

Lea Boost for Urban Renewal

EAST PRAIRIE — The Bootheel Regional Planning Commission's chairman, Pat Lea of Sikeston, said last night more communities in Southeast Missouri should consider urban renewal projects to modernize and upgrade downtown areas.

The commission has a specialist who has assisted three Southeast Missouri communities in adopting urban renewal this year. Sikeston voters rejected urban renewal last fall before the specialist was employed. Hayti approved it Monday.

Comprehensive plans for Miner, Lilbourn and Bernie will be completed this year. These are designed to guide a communities growth.

The commission in regular monthly session, also announced its decision to go ahead with drawing up area comprehensive plans for water, sewers, recreation and land use in the six-county Bootheel area.

Without such plans, which are certified by the federal government, it would be difficult for larger communities, such as Sikeston, Kennett and Caruthersville, to get federal funds for public works and park projects.

Federal regulations require projects in communities with more than 5,500 residents be tied in with planning in the surrounding rural areas.

Edward Lutzen, a state geologist from Jefferson City, appeared before the commission and explained the state will assist communities in selecting sites for trash dumping. He said careless or improper dumping of trash can contaminate water supplies.

No Evidence of Sniper at Kent

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A staff member of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest said today 29 Ohio National Guardsmen "fired a minimum of 54 shots in 11 seconds" when four students were slain here May 4.

The commission, concluding a three-day hearing on the Kent State University campus, also was told:

—The FBI found no evidence of a sniper on the campus at that time.

—Guardsmen involved in the shooting incident appeared "terribly scared ... they felt they were going to be overrun."

—On the day before the shooting Guardsmen had shown some students how their guns were loaded.

Atty. George Warren of Lansing, Mich., a commission staffer, reported no evidence of a sniper. He also said the FBI established that 45 Guardsmen did not fire their weapons, 47 claimed they didn't and 29 did fire.

The commission concluded the hearings here shortly after noon and announced that a working seminar would be held tomorrow in Washington, D.C., for state, city and campus security law enforcement officials. Representatives of the National Guard also were invited.

Dennis Durand, a Marine Corps veteran and a Kent State student, said he acted as a police informer on student activities before and during the incident.

Durand, 30, said there appeared to be six or eight "ring leaders" and that on two days they talked of attack an Air Force ROTC building, destroying an ROTC supply depot and burning the Kent State president's house, "preferably with him in it."

Durand, head of a Kent State veterans association, said he was in a campus crowd the day of the shooting.

Senate Votes Restriction On U.S. Fighting Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to forbid spending U.S. funds to pay foreign troops fighting for Laos and Cambodia.

The vote was on the eve of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's departure on an Asian tour.

On Thursday the Senate voted to cut higher supplemental pay for South Korean and Thailand troops fighting in the Thai government, for example, wants to attack anybody on their own, that's their business. They just would not be able to use our money to do it."

Both amendments were eventually endorsed, after debate, by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Forces Committee.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., appeared to agree with

Rock Group Hopes to Reach World of Professional Music

By JUDY STROUP Can a Sikeston rock group find happiness in the big world of professional music?

Mark Noles, Dana McReynolds, Lyman Dame, Hunter Moore, and Jim Marshall think so.

They are members of a new band Slow Gold which got together at the beginning of the summer.

All are students at Sikeston high school, are members of the high school band, and at various times, were members of another group, The Absolute, which has disbanded.

When asked what big name band the group was patterning itself after, Dana, lead guitarist, replied, "We are influenced by about 100 bands; it's called Heinz Variety."

The band members have no regular costume. "Everybody just wears the coolest thing they have," according to Jim, drummer.

When the boys were in junior high school, their parents financed their first equipment. "Mr. Collins has been great with us," Lyman commented.

The only type of music the teenagers don't like is countrywestern.

"All you need to make a hit country western record is a few bad love affairs, a bad voice, and a cheap guitar," Lyman remarked. Dana and Hunter agreed that "bubblegum" music doesn't have much to offer them. "Bubblegum" is a term applied to records that feature overworked themes and simple melodies.

Jim likes "Tommy Dorsey and the big band sound," but Dana says he "digs classical music."

"Variety is the spice of life, but don't let it get too spicy,"

Lyman laughed.

"The worst thing about playing is packing up afterwards," according to Lyman, bass guitarist.

"I can hardly stand up I am so tired, after I get through playing," the bespectacled Mark, rhythm guitarist, said.

"Usually when we get through playing, it's late at night, so the only place to get something to eat is a truck stop. Since we are all sweaty and our hair isn't combed, the other customers star at us," Jim added.

"People have a different opinion of others with long hair," Dana remarked, "but the older people are always saying you can't judge a book by its cover."

"It's like a cave man with fire," Lyman said. "When he is up in his cave, looking down the hill at fire for the first time, he is afraid. But when he cooks a couple of sirloin steaks in it, he likes it."

"The founders of this country had long hair; just look at our coins."

"I know a preacher who told a guy not to come back to church until he got his hair cut. 'The church is hypocritical, but that's an overworked phrase,' Hunter, organist said. "People seem to go just to ease their conscience."

Mark added, "if you believe in your God, you don't need any one to tell you what to do."

When asked his opinion of the cancelled rock festival, Jim replied, "I'd rather have good concerts than a rock festival."

"It wouldn't make any difference if they brought drugs in by the truckload, you could still get anything in this town in 10 minutes," Mark stated.

"I think the kids would have cleaned up the mess afterwards, but no one asks our opinions," Hunter said seriously.

"What entertainment is there?" Jim questioned. "The hoodlums ruined Batman (dance club)."

"When the kids are tired of the show or the Pizza Inn, all that's left is dark country roads," Lyman volunteered.

"It's like my mom says, nobody has anything for the teenagers," Jim said.

When asked what the biggest problem facing youth is, Hunter answered, "Age."

He explained that age brings fear of the draft.

The five-member group is concerned about pollution.

"It started on the coast," Dana said, "and worked inward, like the Pilgrims."

"It's also like a drop of dye in water," Lyman added, "just because you are at the bottom of the bucket doesn't mean you will always have clear water. Soon the dye will spread and you won't be able to see the water for the dye."

The band members agree that the "top 40 is designed for children." Radio stations don't promote good musical albums, according to Slow Gold.

The band practices in a building on north Kingshighway owned by Mrs. Dorothy Matthews. They maintain that the group comes first.

Jim plans to join the Peace Corps if the band does not achieve popularity. Dana has plans to become a computer programmer, and Mark is set on a career in architecture.

Hunter says he can "always come back to the farm," if a career in music doesn't work out, and Lyman plans to become an oral surgeon.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Nearly every man pretends that he is very gay when he goes out of town, and that a lot of people are waiting to entertain him, but did you ever go on such a trip that you didn't find it pretty dull? And didn't you find your acquaintances pretty busy?

COLOR IT CAPITALISM

An interesting illustration of how advertising men work overtime to draw your attention to products they want you to buy; Media Decisions a magazine for experts in advertising and marketing, published a special report as to how colors influence consumers. And here is one of the things they report:

Red, the experts said, is the "symbol of blood and fire; it's the hottest color with highest action quotient." Hence it is, "appropriate for soups and meats." But since red also conveys a "strong masculine appeal" it is used for such things as shaving cream, etc.

Brown, however, is another "masculine color," associated with earth, woods, mellowness, age warmth, comfort - i.e., "the essential male." The ad moguls say: "Brown is used to sell men anything - even cosmetics."

Yellow, they report, has "high impact" to catch the eye, particularly when used with black. Concussion of the advertising geniuses: "Yellow is psychologically right for corn, lemon, or sun tan products."

When it comes to the color green, most of would probably reach the same conclusion as the experts: "Symbol of health and freshness."

Blue is described as the "coldest color, with most appeal, effective for frozen foods (ice impression)." But if used with lighter tints it becomes "sweet," and hence is used for things like beverages and flour.

Black? To the uninitiated, black would not seem to have much sales appeal. Not so, say the experts; "black conveys sophistication," hence used to promote expensive products; also good as background and foil for other colors.

Orange is used to be the most yummy, "edible" color, especially in brown-tinted shades. It "evokes autumn and good things to eat."

Didn't know that advertisers went to so much trouble to please you, did you? But they indeed do, and that is the "big secret" of success in the American free enterprise economy. Since you, the consumer, are the boss, the producer must do everything he can, in competition with others, to please you, both with the contents of the package and the attractiveness of the label. And that is certainly better than the non-competitive socialist system, where the government monopoly produces what it wants with no regard for the wishes of the consumer- and with no back talk, either!

Every time you are disagreeable to people, they begin laying plans to get even.

THE LEGACY OF KENT STATE

The President's Commission on Campus Unrest held hearings which started on Wednesday (Aug. 19) at Kent, Ohio, the town where four Kent State University students were slain by National Guard gunfire last May.

The shots that killed four Kent State University students on May 4 are still reverberating. The tragedy on the Ohio campus triggered a nationwide student strike, the first in the country's history. More importantly, it contributed to the rebirth of political activism on the part of college students. Still another development was the appointment by President Nixon, June 13, of a nine-member commission charged with investigating campus violence and recommending ways of peacefully resolving student grievances.

Early analyses of last spring's student protests assumed that they were prompted as much by the invasion of Cambodia as by Kent State. But a study by the Urban Research Corporation of Chicago concluded that Cambodia played only a secondary role in stoking campus unrest. In the three days following Nixon's April 30 speech announcing the Cambodia invasion, the study said, campus strikes and boycotts occurred at about the usual rate for that time of year -- 20 a day.

After the Kent State shootings, however, campus protests rose to more than 100 a day for four consecutive days. John Naisbitt, president of the Urban Research Corporation, stated that "In spite of Cambodia, without the Kent State deaths, there would have been no national student strike."

And without the strike, it seems fair to say, there would have been no rekindling of campus interest in national politics. Freed from classroom obligations, numerous students descended on Washington in May to lobby for antiwar legislation and to acquaint members of Congress with the causes of campus protest. Almost all of Haverford (Pa.) College -- students, faculty and administration officials -- journeyed to the capital for a day of seminars. A contingent of 1,200 Yale students lobbied among the 29 Old Blues in Congress.

The students apparently made few converts. One of them described a visit to a conservative California congressman as follows: "Twelve extra-provocative Yalies showed up... and essentially cut off any possibility of rational discussion. They were inarticulate and poorly prepared."

Still, the students hope to accomplish a great deal in November by helping to elect peace candidates. Princeton will give its students two weeks off prior to Election Day for campaign work. Numerous other colleges and universities have taken or are considering similar action.

It remains to be seen whether the current passion for politics endures or if it turns out to be a one-season wonderlike the McCarthy "kids' crusade" of 1968. At least some students incline to the latter view. Douglas L. Hallett, chairman of the Yale Daily News, recently wrote: "Students don't know what they want. They identify for periods of time with anybody from Eugene McCarthy to Bobby Seale, but their commitments are transitory. The outrage that followed the Cambodia incursion has not been followed by sustained political activity."

Students nevertheless constitute a potentially powerful political force. Around 3.3 million persons attending college already are of voting age. Lowering of the voting age to 18 on Jan. 1, 1971, as provided by extension of the Voting Rights Act, would double the number of students qualified to vote. It is possible, though improbable, that the student vote will turn out to be a bloc vote. No one will know for sure until 1972, the first general election year in which all persons aged 18 and over will be enfranchised.

WE'LL BUY THAT!

Another editor writes: "There are two expressions in the English language that can often calm the 'troubled waters.' They are common words that are easy to say and easy to spell. They are insignificant in themselves, but are of high value when used in the proper way. They are 'please' and 'thank you.' Their use marks a great difference in the characters of the members of the human race. They can be used by young and old and by rich and poor. A sincere 'please' or 'thank you' is the mark of good upbringing and a regard for others, and they can be real day brighteners."

"Big government" and not "big business" or "big labor," is seen by the public as posing the greatest threat to the nation in the future, according to (a) Gallup opinion poll.

Virginia Petty says: "One thing that would help the pollution situation is the reduction in the hot-air thermal pollution from some sources concerning ecology."

BACK WHERE WE STARTED
The last great inflationary upsurge in our economy reached the peak, from which it subsequently subsided, in 1957. Unless present signs are completely misleading, 1969 seems likely to play a similar role as the highwater mark of the inflationary boom of the latter 1960's.

Our purpose here is to review the economic history of the 12 years intervening between the two peaks. We shall also present some reflections on whether the end of the present boom will be, or need to be, followed by a succession of events similar to what happened in the years since 1957.

For our purposes the 12-year interval divides itself rather neatly into three four-year periods, with the breaks occurring in 1961 and 1965. Each of the three resulting four-year periods - 1957-61, 1961-65, 1965-69 - has an economic flavor and atmosphere all its own. We will postpone characterizing them until we have looked at some aspects which can be measured

NEW YORK (AP) — Any woman in the world would be happy to buy pork chops from a butcher as handsome as Alain Delon—no matter how heavy a thumb he put on the scales.

But the actor, who once whacked up hams in his stepfather's pork shop in a Paris suburb, is now cutting a wider swath as an international matinee idol.

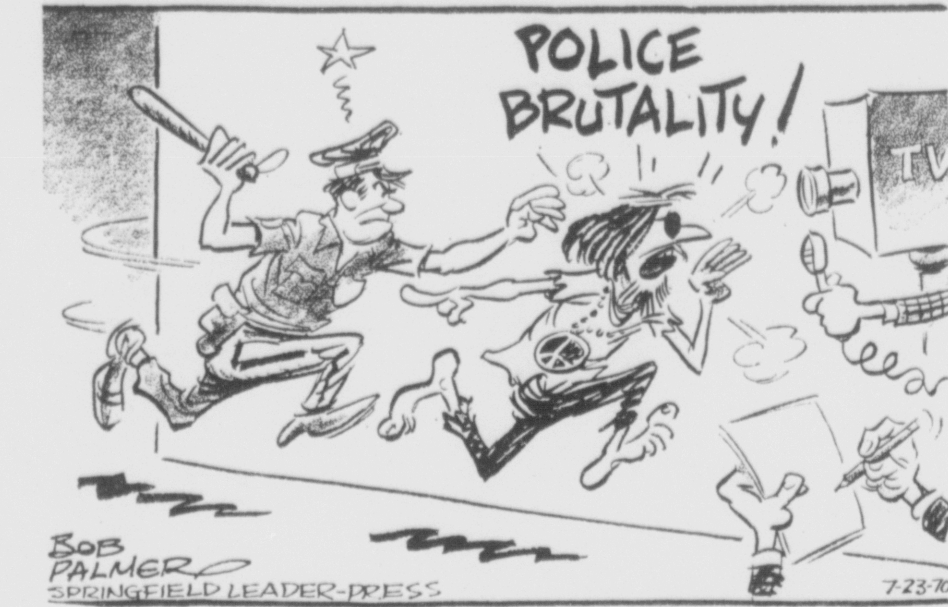

At 34, tall, dark, blue-eyed and handsome, Delon is strikingly reminiscent of the late Tyrone Power. In the latest of his 30 or more films, "Borsalino," which he also produced, he is co-starred with Jean-Paul Belmondo. They play a couple of small-time rogues who wind up dominating the Marseilles underworld.

Vanity is about the only buffer an actor has between himself and the rude shocks of this world, and many a one believes his career to be the most important thing in the universe.

Alain regards his craft with a more Gallic practicality. "A statesman, a scientist or a writer can put his stamp upon his time," he said, "but not an actor. There is a difference between creativity and interpretation."

"I don't have the vanity to want to be eternal. A famous painter might paint your portrait, and it might be eternal—but you wouldn't be eternal."

economic growth. Apparently, for a time in this middle span of years, we had the best of both worlds.

To complete the record we need to report on one other factor which, in appraisals of the economic situation, always seems to get heavy emphasis - unemployment. The following shows the average unemployment rate for our three periods:

1965-69 4.2%

The fact that the period 1957 to 1961 showed economic growth well below normal expectations is not surprising. It will be recalled as a time when there was widespread concern over the sluggishness of our economy. It is not surprising, either, that the years 1961 to 1965 showed growth well above the normal rate. This was the period when we were congratulating ourselves on having gotten the economy moving again.

What may be somewhat surprising is that the latest four-year period, 1965 to 1969, experienced economic growth at an approximately normal rate -- no worse but no better than what should be expected over the long run. It startles us because we think of this as a period of feverish activity when everyone became more expansion-minded than ever before. But apparently this psychology generated more inflationary heat than actual power for driving the economic machine forward.

To add to the record, we show next the annual rate of increase in the price level (based on the most comprehensive price index available):

1961-65 1.5%
1965-69 3.7%

As expected, the last four years are the period of most rapid price inflation. But the more interesting fact is that the best record for price stability was made in the 1961-65 year period, which was also the period of most rapid real achieve them.

One conclusion indicated by our review of the past is that 5 per cent unemployment may be more compatible with growth and price stability than unemployment below 4 per cent. We would not urge that these figures be taken with statistical literalness. They do suggest that an arbitrarily low level of unemployment, if it is pursued at the expense of other economic objectives, leads to an inflationary crisis.

The economy is about back where it started in 1957 -- but there is at least hope that we may do better the next time around the course.

At first glance, "obsolete metallica" sounds like a ridiculous way to describe plain old junk like worn-out cars and refrigerators, rusted hot water tanks and so on.

This is exactly what "junk" is — a recyclable economic resource we have too long wasted and neglected in the belief that there was no end to the riches we could extract from the earth and no end to the earth's capacity to reabsorb what we have used and

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Cheating the motorist — a form of highway robbery known among service station sharpies as "skinning the dude" — has grown into a multi-million-dollar racket.

This column has gathered evidence that some of the nation's biggest service station chains use these modern highwaymen to push tires, batteries and accessories upon unwary motorists.

At many stations, the gas pumps are manned by high-pressure salesmen skilled at alarming customers into buying replacements they don't need. Some salesmen can turn a fast buck with scare talk alone, but the most successful use sly sabotage.

They are known in the trade as "tool men." Quicker than the eye can see, they can pull a coil, loosen a battery cable, produce smoke in an alternator, cause a distributor to spark, cut a fan belt, puncture a radiator hose, or squirt oil on a fuel pump or shock absorber to simulate a leak.

Other tool men — also called "slashers," "honkers" and "hashers" — specialize in puncturing tires. An expert can thrust a sharply filed screwdriver between the treads of a tire, completely undetected, while the driver watches him take the air pressure.

The big oil companies pretend to be unaware of the highway robbery going on in the service stations that bear their brand names. But company officials know that many a station is selling far more side products than the traffic warrants.

SECRET TOOL MEN
Sometimes the companies

send in salesmen to help simulate the sales. More often than not, they are secret tool men who, like spies, expect to be disowned if they are caught sabotaging a customer's car.

Usually a tool man will split his take with the station operator. At an Amoco station in the small town of Vernal, Utah, for example, a tool man promised the operator to sell enough extra tires and accessories to earn them each $8,000 to $10,000 a month. A tape of their conversation has been made available to this column.

The auto-repair gyps quickly size up each motorist as he pulls up to the gas pumps. If he is driving an out-of-state car and seems unfamiliar with auto mechanics, they spot him for a "dude" or "pigeon" or "mallard" as they call a sucker.

An experienced gyp artist prefers to deal with a man who, after he realizes he has been taken, is less likely than a woman to complain. His male ego usually keeps him from advertising his stupidity.

The gyp artist would also rather pick on an Easterner, because auto sabotage is more prevalent in the West and a Westerner, therefore, is more likely to be wise to the racket.

The tool man's first objective is to get the car on the rack. He may puncture the tire and point out that it is low. Or he may hang a wire that will cause the distributor to throw off sparks, or slip detergent into the battery water to make it foam, or squeeze a drop of mercury from an eye-dropper into a smear of transmission fluid on the alternator to produce smoke.

FREEWAY RUNNERS
Some service stations use

"freeway runners" who drive along the approaches to the station exit, pull up alongside a likely pigeon and shout a neighborly warning that his back wheel is wobbling. The grateful driver usually will turn off at the next exit and pull into the intended service station.

Once the tool man gets a car on the rack, he will pluck the pigeon for all he can get without arousing suspicion. Tires, batteries and shock absorbers are the favorite items.

The gyp artist will point to the wear indicator which shows across the tread pattern of most tires or to the tendency of wide tires to pinch the treads toward the middle — neither cause for alarm — as evidence that the tire is about to blow out.

He may blame this upon the shock absorbers and cite the oil he has squirted on the shocks as an added ominous sign. Then he will try to sell the pigeon both tires — and shock absorbers. He will also quote prices that are too high. For he splits the overcharge, or "O.C.," with the operator.

As an added touch of larceny, the auto racketeer may merely wipe the old part clean and sell it back to the original owner. Or he may peddle it as a replacement to the next pigeon who comes along.

Footnote: Probably the best way to deter an auto-repair gyp is to take his name and address when he tries to sell you a new tire or accessory. You would also be safer to head for the nearest franchised dealer when the smiling service station attendant suggests you need a new tire, battery, fuel pump, alternator or pair of shock absorbers.

EMPHASIS: Highway Patrol Weighed over Half A Million Commercial Vehicle During The First Half Of 1970.

Over half a million commercial motor vehicles were weighed by the Missouri Highway Patrol's Commercial Motor Vehicle Enforcement Division (CMVE) during the first six months of this year.

The Highway Patrol reports that its CMVE personnel weighed 605,519 trucks, buses and other commercial vehicles during the first half of this year. This figure is a close comparison to the 680,475 vehicles weighed during the same period in 1969.

Thirty-two weigh stations and 15 portable weighing units are manned by civilian inspectors under the supervision of uniformed Highway Patrolmen. All commercial motor vehicles are required to stop at operating locations where they are weighed and checked for compliance with commercial vehicle regulations.

A total of 13,186 arrests were made for violations of the State's trucking laws during the first six months of this year. The number of warnings issued for minor infractions of rules and regulations totaled 57,044.

More than 90,000 man hours were required in the operation of the weigh stations and portable units by the Highway Patrol during the first half of this year.

In addition to weighing vehicles, inspecting driver license and checking other items pertaining to regulations, weight inspectors are on the alert to warn drivers of mechanical defects in their vehicles. Worn tires, inoperative lights and load shifts are looked for in the interest of traffic safety.

H.L. Hunt Says

PATRIOTS ON GUARD

When the putrid fruits of socialism stink up our society for all to see and smell, concerned citizens begin to ask how we got this way and how can the good working, tax-paying builders of our nation save it from the destroyers.

In an earlier period of crisis when our infant nation appeared about to go under, Gen. George Washington issued a command which we should remember today every time we consider the choice of a public official of a public policy. At a critical time in the awful winter at Valley Forge, with English troops and Hessian mercenaries 20 miles away enjoying the food and comforts provided by a few profiteering traitors, Washington told his officers:

"Put none but Americans on guard tonight!" Of course, the people selling goods for British gold were technically "Americans," too. The faint-hearted in the ragged little army who were ready to desert were, also. But the Father of our Country knew he had two kinds of people to deal with: those who would sell out their own country and those who were willing to die for it.

Today, every citizen of any nation in North or South America technically can be called an "American." In our own country there are those who would sell out this land for a false promise or for a socialist lie. So each of us might follow Washington's wisdom, changing the order slightly for today: "Put none but patriots on guard to preserve Republic USA."

Only thus can we prevent the communists and criminals from dispatching our free civilization back into the black night of barbarism from whence it came. HLH

ON HEROIN'S TRAIL: Wealthy Arab Merchants Make Millions Using Syria, Lebanon As Bases for Pouring Dope into U.S.

BONIFACIO, Corsica: -- This fabled island of Jords, mountains, caves, restaurants and beach cities, where they still sing to and toast Napoleon, provides France with most of its killers, criminals, its own "Mafia," and police. It is a long way from the apron-shrouded Middle East.

But it's not as distant as you may think. For it is on this French island, as tough as its famed maquis underbrush, that you encounter a virtually unknown mountain - top "Mafia" -- and discover that the source of virtually all narcotics now beginning to corrode America's public schools, colleges, slums as well as industry, is the Arab world.

Indeed, there is evidence to prove that many of the loudest, most virulent Arab patriots, some of the most intense leaders of anti-Israeli organizations, make millions of dollars annually out of dope running.

These French-speaking multimillionaire Arab merchants, often living luxuriously in Paris, are the blood and cash partners of the French "Mafia" which shuttles between its native Corsica and the opium center of its world, brutal Marseilles.

Bluntly, therefore, the Arab allies of the Soviet Union, now inexorably tightening their computerized missile vise around Israel, are the basic suppliers of hard narcotics to the American criminal syndicates.

So intimate is this Arab-Corsican-French "Mafia" to the Sicilian counterpart which runs and does the U.S. via Montreal and Mexico City, they call each other "cousins."

Spend some time in Marseilles, still considered the toughest town in the Western World. Then ship over to this island, make the coastal runs. Jeep up into the little mountain towns with some Corsicans who have become French police officers and you get corroboration of what American intelligence has known for some time.

The story and trails run in this fashion: The world's biggest opium poppy crops are in India. It is carefully monitored and it is not as pure as the Turkish harvest. In Turkey, where corruption is as heavy a crop as its opium, the poppies grow densely in seven provinces. In each the raising of opium poppy is controlled by the chiefs of the kazas, administrative districts.

Palm "grease" in the form of cash is an old kaza crop. The Turkish government does attempt to control the growth of the poppy by buying up as much as it can for its government monopoly, known in the trade as Toprak. But the opium grown in these seven provinces by some 90,000 Turkish farmers, especially Afyon (which means opium) is much too tempting and the foreign smugglers zero in on it. They simply pay the Turkish farmers a few dollars more per kilo than the government does. These farmers and smugglers are responsible for 80 per cent of the hard narcotics smuggled into the U.S.

Now, it so happens that the smugglers are commissioned and protected by wealthy "brokers," operating basically in Syria. There these brokers have powerful influence in government circles considered the toughest, almost irrationally irreconcilable of the Arab enemies of Israel.

The smugglers buy up the poppies in Turkey. They load them on small trucks, into old cars, on horses, donkeys and camels. They then run the crop over the border into Syria.

The Turkish police really try to move in. They cut down some of the smugglers, who do some fancy shooting themselves. Some years ago the Turks mined the smugglers' trails. A truck and a mule or two were blown up. A few days later the border runners ran sheep over the trails, exploded the mines and then moved freely.

Once in Syria, or in Lebanon, the opium is brewed, often in metal drums, into a morphine base. This is packeted and run into such cities as Beirut or Aleppo (Syria). Then the morphine is shipped in Marseilles.

There, across the lazy Mediterranean from this island, the French "Mafia" runs the morphine through its own laboratories. These sometimes are in rat-filled slum apartments. Or sometimes a villa is rented on the lovely sea coast between Marseilles and Nice.

There the waterfront crowd gets the heroin, which comes from the morphine base, and ships it to Corsica. And from this ancient town, on a clear day, they say you can see Sardinia.

The packaged heroin, now worth millions in the U.S., is shipped to Milano, Rome, Naples, Sicily and to the Western Hemisphere, sometimes through Palermo.

Thus it goes via Montreal or Mexico City into the U.S.

And the cash flow runs back, through Italy, through Corsica, through Marseilles (with its professionally directed chemical labs) and back to the Lebanese and Syrian merchant princes who have great influence on their governments. It is they who make possible the flow in the first place. It is they who keep their governments agitating for war.

If they ever fell out of grace, if ever a peaceful government cracked down on them and their smugglers, the narcotics traffic into the U.S. could be dammed. American teenagers would not die from overdoses and industry would not find itself forced now to begin holding seminars on how to keep its employees -- on all levels -- from the habit.

So Corsica is not so far from the Middle East, after all. Nor is New York or Los Angeles or middle America, or the local college campus, or the big factory down the turnpike.

Ann Landers
Wife of Physician Dies From Cancer
Instead of 'Bothering Her Husband'

Dear Ann Landers: I buried my best friend today. She was only 36, a beautiful delightful woman - a devoted wife and mother of four children. This woman did not have to die so young. For the life of me I cannot understand it. And the whole tragedy seems so unreal when one considers she was the wife of a physician.

The cause of her death was cancer. She admitted when she went to her doctor that she noticed the lump in her breast a few months after her last annual check-up.

She confided in me when I visited her in the hospital (following the removal of her breast) that she didn't want to "bother" her husband with it because he had too much on his mind. How an intelligent woman could have waited eight or nine months to investigate a lump in her breast is more than I can understand.

Please, Ann Landers, do the women of the world a favor. Your column is the best read thing in the paper. Please, I beg of you, print this letter. Tell every woman out there if she notices a lump in her breast to immediately to the doctor and let him determine whether or not it is serious. Ninety-five per cent of the breast lumps are nothing more than enlarged glands or cysts. The painful lumps are rarely malignant tumors, but a woman should never ignore a breast lump. Early detection of even a cancerous tumor can mean a life saved. Thankyou, Ann, and God bless you for the good you do.

-Heartbroken Friend

Dear Friend: Thank you for your letter. Somewhere, someone who read it will now go to the phone and make an appointment with her doctor. That woman may live another 20 years because she read your letter. Thanks again.

Dear Ann Landers: I travel Illinois and Indiana for a nationally known firm. I get to Peoria frequently. Over the last year I developed a close relationship with the ex-wife of a former executive. Please understand, this was no romance, merely a friendship. A few weeks ago I received for my birthday a framed picture of this woman. The accompanying note said: "For your desk." The picture was inscribed, "To a man who has been an angel to me ..."

The woman has friends in this office and I'm afraid if I don't put her picture on my desk she'll hear about it and her feelings will be hurt.

In the meantime I already have a picture of my wife and kids on my desk and I think one picture is enough. Please advise.

---Illinois Troubles

Dear Illinois: Your Peoria friend sounds like an idiot or a troublemaker - or both. Her gift was in the worst possible taste. You said it better than I. You already have a picture of your wife and kids on your desk and one picture is enough. Toss it in your circular file, Bub, and invite your wife to Peoria when you go. It's a lovely city.

Confidential to Shall I Chance It? NO!!! Marriage won't change him, but it could change you ... from a happy, healthy, productive girl to a sad-eyed babysitter for a drunk. Forget it.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

RAINY WEATHER commands protection for the daily fashions of women around the world. Camilla Bowman of Sikeston, a University of Missouri-Columbia journalism senior, chose a maxi-coat today to protect her office dress. The coat is Dacros-cotton canvas, as are the two alternative length selections shown below. Squat-heeled walking shoes are good with maxi or mini lengths, but midi length requires boots for an all-together look. Hats and scarves are popular accessories for any today rainwear.

Cross-talk
Mr. and Mrs. JOHN VANDLER of Vanduser will be honored Sunday in recognition of their 50th wedding anniversary. An open house will be held in their residence and hosted by their daughter, Mrs. Nellie Vinson of 309 Branum, Sikeston, and their son, James of rural Sikeston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Marlin and family of New Orleans, La. were weekend guests of JOE BARNETT of Morehouse.

Prepare for the Rainy Season... Warm or Cool

Cheer up and greet the inevitable rain with a new attitude. The rainiest months are nearing and, although no one, except perhaps farmers who are concerned with crops, thinks favorably of showers, there is a rainbow on the horizon.

Nat Hirsch, designer for Junior Gallery, has just put the finishing touches on his first fashion-packed rain-wear collection.

The raincoats represent all lengths, which is precisely the way people are dressing. The maxi-length, especially in coats, reached the masses in Fall '69 and continues into the new decade. From all indications, the midi is starting to come on very strong. And those who were first on their blocks to wear maxis are likely to be the original mid-enthusiasts. The mini is a perennial favorite and is likely to hold its status for some time.

It's common knowledge that raincoats encompass every occasion and every season, which is why it's not unusual to own a wardrobe of them. Nat Hirsch turns out this first group in Dacron cotton and the next group to arrive will likely be in a shiny fabric. He strongly believes that accessorizing these coats is half the game - boots, pants, long scarves - all the right mixers.

Now that the fashion in-

Sikeston Wins Title, White Most Valuable

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. — Sikeston capitalized on errors and base-on-balls to capture the championship of the Civic League baseball tournament at Linc Park last night, defeating Poplar Bluff 6-5. Parma placed third, crushing Piedmont 19-4 behind the pitching of Jeff Perkins, who relieved Rick Morgan and checked the Piedmont squad to two safeties.

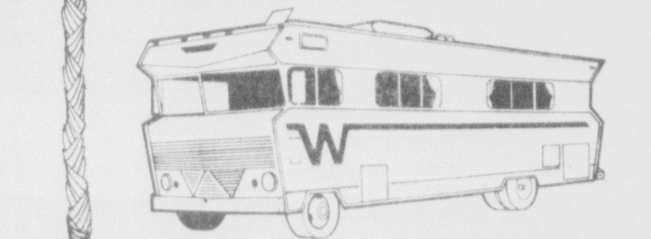

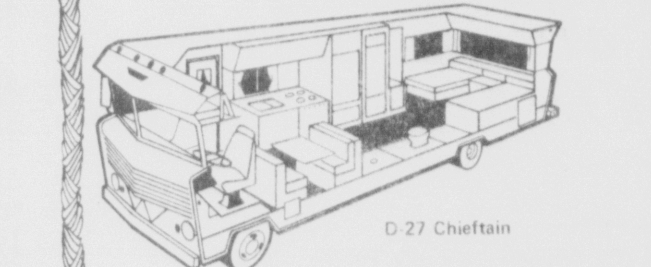

It was the first title for the Sikeston all-Stars this season as they've settled for a second and a third place finish in two other events, but looked for awhile that this one might slip away as Bluff put two men on with one out in the last of the

Football Problems

By DICK COUCH

Joe Kapp and the Minnesota Vikings are still $1 million apart and money alone can't bridge the gap between Jim Nance and the Boston Patriots.

In contrast, all that stands between Roger Brown and the Los Angeles Rams is a 29-pound weight lag. But it appears that Brown's gain will be the Fearsome Foursome's loss.

While a lawyer for quarterback Kapp threatened the Vikings with a multimillion dollar court suit and the Patriots reached an impasse in contract talks with fullback Nance Thursday, the Rams quietly "retired" defensive tackle Brown, a 10-year National Football League standout, because of his 329-pound impost.

"Roger had three fine years for the Rams and I'm sorry to see him go," said Coach George Allen. "He has at least three more good years ... if he takes care of himself."

Big Roger reported to the Rams' training camp at a not-so-svelte 334 pounds—about 34 over his playing weight—and was barred from practice pending a drastic reduction. But, despite rigorous efforts, he managed to shed just five pounds before the club lost patience.

The former All-Pro performer, acquired by Los Angeles in a 1967 trade with the Detroit Lions, was placed on the reserve list.

Attorney John Cook, representing Kapp, the NFL's

No. 1 holdout, charged that the free agent quarterback's negotiating efforts were being sabotaged by "gentlemen's agreements" among the club owners.

"If Joe is unable to play football because of those parties," Cook told the San Antonio News, "they (the owners) will be confronted with a multimillion dollar anti-trust and fraudulent connivance suit."

Nance, who, like Kapp, played out his option last year, had been bargaining through representatives, with the Patriots for several months. But the club said Thursday that the negotiations had been broken off.

"While the financial terms were satisfactory for both parties, and have been for several weeks," Pats President William H. Sullivan Jr. said, "there were certain conditions desired by Nance and his advisors that the Patriots felt they could not grant without giving up some of the prerogatives of management."

Elsewhere, Baltimore and Pittsburgh swapped gifted pass receivers, the Colts picking up All-NFL Roy Jefferson in exchange for Willie Richardson, a seven-year vet, plus a high 1970 draft choice.

"Jefferson is one of those scorers," Colts General Manager Don Klosterman said of the sixth-year pro whose 67 catches last season set a Steeler record. "We are expecting great things out of his speed and ability to get open for pass receptions."

Richardson caught 43 passes for the Colts last season. "He's a fine athlete and we are very fortunate to get him," said Steelers Coach Chuck Noll.

Two games kick off the weekend exhibition schedule tonight. Atlanta invades Washington and Philadelphia visits Buffalo.

Tommy Nibis, who sat out Atlanta's last nine games in 1969 with a damaged knee, returns at middle linebacker for the Falcons, who are coming off a 3-7 romp over the New York Jets.

They should have their hands full this time against the Redskins' Sonny Jurgensen, who fired four scoring passes in a 45-21 massacre of Boston last Sunday.

Quarterback Dennis Shaw, the Bills' No. 1 draft pick who signed a $100,000 three-year contract Wednesday, will watch second-year man Jimmy Harris direct the Buffalo attack against the Eagles.

Veteran safety George Simeas, who rejoined the Bills Thursday after becoming a free agent at the end of last season, also is expected to sit out the game.

The St. Louis Cardinals may not be ready to ascend mountains but they're better than last week's 26-16 loss to the Denver Broncos, Coach Charley Winner feels.

Now it's up to the Cardinals to vindicate their coach's judgment in a first meeting Saturday night with the Cincinnati Bengals at Busch Stadium.

Winner, disappointed by five Cardinal holding penalties and two interceptions in the loss to Denver, said he saw bright spots too.

The silver lining was that displayed by cornerbacks Roger Wehrli and Miller Farr, whose play Winner called the team's best at their positions in two years.

Also heartening to the fifth-season Cardinal mentor was the passing of Jim Hart, who completed nine of 19 passes for 162 yards.

Rookie specialist Don Bean chased back four Broncos punts a total of 77 yards and averaged 18 yards in returning two kickoffs.

Cardinal receivers were led by John Gilliam, who snared six passes for 120 yards. Gilliam, however, will be withheld from the 7 o'clock CDT, game with a bruised left shoulder.

Coach Paul Brown of the Bengals, still shuffling his backfield in an effort to compensate for the loss of quarterback Greg Cook, has promoted Essex Johnson and Clem Turner to starting running back posts.

The quarterback will be Faye Lewis, a former Canadian League running back who spelled Bubba Wyche during a 20-10 loss last week to the Miami Dolphins.

Cincinnati won its pre-season opener 27-12 over the Washington Redskins and brings a 1-1 record into the encounter.

Pitchers Swing Big Bats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mel Stottlemyre and Ron Reed switched their talents to slugging, and the right-handed pitchers came out with a pair of victories—and a draw.

Stottlemyre took his frustrations out against Minnesota, ripping a two-run, seventh-inning triple that enabled the New York Yankees to nip the Twins, West Division leaders of the American League, 4-3 Thursday night.

Reed, Atlanta's tall curveballer, drilled a run-scoring single in the middle of a three-run second inning as the Braves trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in the only other major league game.

Reed also came out with a no-decision in an exchange of blows with teammate Rico Carty prior to Wednesday night's game, the Atlanta Journal reported.

The incident between Carty, the major league's leading hitter with a .357 average and Reed, now 6-5 after missing half of the season with a separated shoulder, occurred in the Braves' dressing room and involved the removal of Little League bats by Carty from Reed's locker.

Club officials confirmed the incident but said: "It was just a case of a couple of guys getting a little mad. It happens with all clubs sooner or later." Carty previously had been involved in a fight with Hank Aaron aboard a plane in 1967.

Stottlemyre, 12-10, who was thrown out of Wednesday night's game against the Twins when he disputed a call from the bench, held the Twins to seven hits and all three runs in seven innings. Lindy McDaniel stopped Minnesota over the final two frames.

Leo Cardenas drove in a pair of Minnesota runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and George Mitterwald socked a homer for the Twins, now five games in front of California.

Felix Millan knocked in a pair of runs for the Braves with a single and sacrifice fly and Reed stymied the Phils on seven hits for his second straight triumph. Carty had a double in the seventh and scored on an error.

Defense, Big Problem

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hardthrowing quarterback Jim Hart knows he's No. 1, meaning the St. Louis Cardinals could well become one of the National Football League's passing powers this fall.

But the revving up of the Cardinal offense, at times excellent in 1969, is going to mean little unless gaping holes in the team's defense last fall are shored up firmly.

Beset early and often by injuries a year ago, the Cardinals frequently started as many as five first-year players against opponents' attacks and wound up yielding 389 points.

The result was a skid from a 9-4-1 finish in 1968 to 4-9-1 in 1969, leaving Coach Charley Winner convinced "we've nowhere to go but up."

Winner, who has survived traces of deep dissent on his also-ran club, thus welcomes back a healthy Jerry Stovall to a cornerback position and hopes Roger Wehrli and Terry Brown have profited from experience.

He has obtained former AFL star Miller Farr to man the left corner, with Wehrli at right corner and Stovall and 11-season vet Larry Wilson at safeties.

Linebacking, like the deep secondary, was tinged with green last season but should be improved given the frequently outstanding service of Larry Stallings.

Stallings is at left linebacker, with Jamie Rivers in the middle and Rocky Rosema on the right side. A rookie, Don Parish of Stanford, has impressed in practice.

The Cardinals' front four lists second-year player Rolf Krueger and Chuck Walker at ends and aggressive Fred Heron and Bob Rowe—a strong tandem last year—at tackles.

Highly-regarded is Tony Plummer, the club's 10th-round draft choice from Pacific.

BREATHOLDING NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

Breathholding spells in children, even when severe, are no cause for anxiety and result only from discordant parent-child relationships, says a Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine pediatrician.

The spells, says Dr. David Livingston, occur most often during the first two years of life and rarely after age five. These children are otherwise healthy and have normal intelligence. With them, breathholding appears mostly as a "spoiled child reaction", which will be repeated if the child's aim of attracting attention is indulged. Treatment consists mainly of parent-child psychiatric guidance — no medication is needed. Behaviour problems, Dr. Livingston feels, should be handled with "quiet, confident firmness".

Wool Is Chic for Fall's 'Great Lady' Fashion Look

By AP NEWSFEATURES

Fashion may well serve as a mirror of the exciting decade ahead, where the mood is one of yearning for peace, beauty, and serenity — a mood that the fashion world has anticipated in "Great Lady" fashions for fall.

The chicest of the chic are fashioned of pure wool. Happily, a wide spectrum of exquisite wool fabrics serves as a palette for the artistic talents of ready-to-wear designers and creators of accessories like hats, shoe toppers and knit stockings.

This is a special year for layered dressing. Play your own game of fashion math by putting elegant pieces together. Play lightweight sweaters against heavy textures wool skirts and jackets to enjoy versatility.

Look for sportswear designed for the most active, as well as the most passive sportswoman among you. Dream about wool knit romper suits 'n socks in heavenly heather — try a jacquard tunic and pant set — the very best interpretation of the important pant look.

And if bewitching is your bailiwick, hide out in black for a spectacular discovery. It's the right color for all you walking hours, but never better than when the sun goes down.

This season's color story finds diffused, muted colors standing alone — or in focus as accents in the new neutrals, those that pale from beige into brown ... or come on strong in black. The other is of brights, newly clear and sharpened to perfection in wool plaids, patterns and solids.

The fashionable of the future will find that skirt lengths are free of formula in every fashion category. Above the knee ... mid ... on down to high ankle lengths ... longuette doesn't mean just lowering the hemline, it expresses the entire mood of softness; the styling is all new and the "put togethers" emphasize the body creating a truly feminine appearance.

Dresses are both new and reminiscent as leg 'n mutton sleeves and mid-calf lengths add a pretty look to newly interpreted granny dresses with graceful high necklines in soft, wool knits. Women will rejoice knowing that such classics as the "shirt-dress" are featured for round the clock wear in lightweight crepes to lush, textured tweeds. Stylings are innovative and more modern than ever before as hemlines wander, cuts go bias and fabrics provide the fashion news.

Newcomers blend with revivals. The "Gauchito" look in pants proves that skirts must share the longuette limelight. Self-accessorizing takes a full turn into the '70's with nailhead trimming on gauchito pants worn with a dramatic matching cape.

Holman-Burns

Miss Cecilia Ann Holman, daughter of Cecil Holman of 710 Davis Blvd., became the bride of Rice Petree Burns Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Burns of 813 Ladue in a 3 p.m. ceremony Aug. 18. Don Glover, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony in Shady Acres Church of Christ.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school and a 1970 graduate of State College in Cape Girardeau.

The groom is a 1965 graduate of Sikeston high, and graduated from State College in 1969. He is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., and the couple is at home at 613 Dearborn, Lawton, Okla.

WOOL'S IN FASHION for the "Great Lady" look of the fall. Sheer black wool (left) destined for dramatic evenings is fitted and flared by designer Jennifer, a division of Jerry Silverman. It's highlighted by a jewel-trimmed midriff cutout, and long, skinny sleeves. Cost: about $90. From Geoffrey Beene comes this evening dress in soft, flowing navy wool, side-fastened and trimmed in silver braids and silver buttons. Cost: about $190. From Travilla comes this romantic longuette in ivory wool crepe. A midriff cross pattern is formed by an absence of umbrella pleating. A color matching wide brimmed hat of wool velour sets off the longer skirt. Chester Weinberg's midi has an oriental flavor, its soft kimono styling, perfect for the longer length. Made of sheer wool jersey patterned from a stylized lotus print, it has Oriental accents such as the obi sash and wraparound skirt. Cost: about $150. Elinor Simmons of Malcolm Starr's designed this paisley and plaid peasant look and matching scarf in sheer, red white and purple wool. Approximate cost: $80.

A warm peach dessert is especially tasty on a spring evening. This is one of the quickies we like to fix. Place canned cling peach halves cup side up in a shallow baking dish. Put a spoonful of orange marmalade and a dot of butter in each. Pour syrup around peaches and bake 20 minutes in moderate oven.

Our favorite sundae salad is a bowl of creamy cottage cheese topped with well-chilled drained canned fruit cocktail. You have a superb combination of five fruits, just by opening a can.

Children love the simple appealing flavor of canned cling peaches. The easiest way to serve them is straight from the can, but they taste very partyish and good as can be with a scoop of soft ice cream on top. A wonderful way to get both fruit and milk into a menu!!!

THE LONGER LOOK for fall is carried thru in these designer wool coats and dresses: The plumb line midi glides from a sable opossum fur trim to hem. Don Simonelli's mosaic creation is predominantly rust, grey and beige, and costs about $150. Fashion's avatrix is in style with a zip-front dress by S.T.J. in jacquard wool. The longuette skirt zips to the length of your choice, as does the body-hugging ribbed top, in the opposite direction. A short cropped jacket completes the look, and when closed, the costume appears to zip from the collarless neckline to midcalf in a single pull. Belt, gloves, boots and helmet complete the look. Chester Weinberg takes up the hemline challenge with a V-shaped fringed skirt on this shirtdress of frosted beige tweed wool. Buttons add the look of precision tailoring. A wool velour hat completes the ensemble. Cost: about $140. Kloss-Pruzan designed his cape and skirt of dark taupe wool crepe combined with a dressmaker wool sweater in delicate mauve. The skirt's side button closing completes the plumb line from the buttons that form a side closing on the cape. The skirt is slit high for feminine flare in stride. Cost: about $180. Geiger Campioni's mid-calf coat and shorter dress ensemble is of grey-flecked flannel wool ... double breasted braided in black to match the simple "where everywhere" dress beneath. A wide-brimmed wool velour hat completes the picture. About $260 for the ensemble and $50 for the hat.

One of our favorite holiday pies is a graham cracker crum shell filled with a layer of ice cream, then a layer of well drained chilled canned cling peach slices and finally a topping of thick chocolate sauce. Keep in the freezing compartment until time to serve.

Hayti Votes 'Yes' on Urban

Renewal, Water Bonds

HAYTI — The citizens of Hayti voted Monday to accept Urban Renewal and a water improvement bond issue by a large majority.

Urban Renewal, which received little publicity in Hayti, was accepted by a vote of 264 for and 38 against.

"The next step, as far as urban renewal is concerned," said Hayti Mayor LeRoy Bain, "is to appoint a five-man land clearance for redevelopment team." Bain stated that this would be done at the next council meeting, September 8th. Mayor Bain has the authority to appoint the members of this committee.

"We are certainly proud that it passed and appreciate the support of the people shown by the majority of votes received in favor of Urban Renewal and the water improvement issue. We feel that we have just gone a step further in the direction of civic improvement," said the Hayti Mayor.

The water improvement bond issue was accepted by a vote of 264 for and 38 against. Approximately $866,500 in water work will be done in Hayti.

Of this figure, $535,000 will be paid by the bond issue while $331,000 will come from the federal government in the form of a grant.

Water problems in Hayti in the past have not been singular. Now, the city will build a new filtering plant which, according to Bain, is badly needed. It will also mean a new deep well, storch tank, and six-inch water mains will be laid in the west part of town where none exist. This will take in all of the north and south heights.

Mayor Bain stated that the City of Hayti had been working toward water improvement since 1964. "There has been a lot of time and hard work put in on this thing," he continued, "and we're certainly glad to see it pass."

Asked if he had any doubts about voters accepting Urban Renewal Bain said, "No, I figured it would be a lot closer than it turned out to be, however."

"I think the people have gotten to the point where they realize they have got to have urban renewal in order to progress," he said.

Woman's Body Found

In River Identified

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The body of a woman found in the Mississippi River north of Cape Girardeau July 28 has been identified as that of Mrs. Thelma Verdella Allen, 40 years old, of St. Louis County, Donald A. Kremer, Cape County coroner, said.

Mrs. Allen, a native of Senath, was reported last seen in a St. Louis County bar July 25. The following day, her abandoned and burned out car was located on an interstate highway in that county, Kremer said. Authorities there are continuing their investigation, he added.

Kremer said the body was identified Wednesday in St. Louis where a pathologist had performed an autopsy. The coroner revealed identification was made through the St. Louis County Identification Bureau by a dentist who performed dental work and had X-rays of the woman's teeth, and by St. Louis County, Donald A. Kremer, Cape County coroner, said.

He said the investigation so far has established Mrs. Allen was separated from her husband, Eugene Allen of House Springs. Allen told officers he last saw his estranged wife a week before she was reported seen in the bar, Mr. Kremer said.

Russell G. Heiney of Cape Girardeau, an employee of the Frisco Railroad, found the body in the river near the campsite at Trail of Tears State Park, Mr. Kremer and other officials had been seeking the woman's identity since that time.

Kremer said relatives of Mrs. Allen came to his home Monday to report she was missing. They said they had reported it to St. Louis officials and gave a description of a woman, her clothes and rings that fit those of the woman pulled from the river, the coroner said. They also said her dental records could be obtained.

The family will now claim the body and make arrangements for burial, he added.

Kremer said the autopsy has revealed no evidence of foul play. The pathologist ruled a cut to her head was apparently received after death as there was no sign of brain hemorrhaging.

The Mayflower Compact of 1620 is regarded by many historians as the beginning of democracy in America. It was signed by 41 adult Pilgrims aboard the Mayflower as that ship lay alongside the present site of Provincetown, Mass., says The World Almanac. Although not intended as a constitution, the compact was concluded to prevent disorder and to establish a local government based on mutual consent.

WITH THE MOBILE GENERATION

Back to school

Mobile: movement, change, travel, restlessness.
1970 fall clothes are ready for mobility, geared to the new youth freedom.
This means casual garments that move with the rapid pace of young life.

1. Sheri Baker wears a cameo pink, tailored crepe shirt with chocolate brown, heavy cotton bell bottom slacks. The softly feminine shirt has full sleeves and Sheri wears a bright print scarf for accent. Miss Baker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim D. Baker of 803 Pine street, and is a senior at Sikeston high school.

with matching, bell bottom slacks. Her gold crepe blouse, which accents the plaids, is seen at the neck and at the wrists. The poncho side neck opening is caught with gold buttons.

Mary's long-sleeved, blue-grey tunic compliments a matching plaid skirt and long, fringed scarf. Chunky spectator shoes are her choice to complete an outfit appropriate for casual events.

2. Twins Pat and Mary Fitzgerald, are ready for brisk fall days with these high school graduates, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fitzgerald of route 1, and are enrolled for the fall semester at college in multi-colored, fringed poncho Gulfpark, Mississippi.

The twins are 1970 Sikeston high school graduates, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fitzgerald of route 1, and are enrolled for the fall semester at college in multi-colored, fringed poncho Gulfpark, Mississippi.

3. Go to any length this fall with coats and dresses. Betty Jane 'BJ' Halter exemplifies the theory that the midi length can be just as feminine and attractive as the mini when the right girl wears it with the right accessories. Boots are the necessary partner to the coat.

Her belted coat of gold wool tweed features brown reptile trim and gold buttons. The Kelly high school senior also wears a beret and long scarf woven of multicolored yarn.

'BJ' is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Halter of Benton. Strong earthy tones are evidence of an intentional return to rustic cloth and clothes. Green, gold, chestnut, brown and navy blue are featured for fall.

4. A dark brown, cut acrylic pile coat will keep the wearer warm on winter mornings. The boudle-breasted, belted coat worn by BJ, is accented with a beige beret of crocheted wool. Sheri models a hunter green, knit skirt with a beige leather belt, and a striped, tailored blouse worn open at the neck. A bright yellow scarf and gold chains bring the skirt and shirt together.

5. Pat knows that gold chains are the 'in' hardware for fall. She wears them with a colored and cuffed navy shirt. The bold plaid wool culottes may be worn with conventional hose or nylon knee-socks. Strapped, chunky shoes are a perfect partner to mini-length fall fashions.

6. Paula Doyle wears a white and blue culotte and a combination attractively torn blouse with brown corduroy bottoms. Her long, fringed, is of patterned acrylic. A su fringed belt, and gypsy chains complete her costume.

THE 15,000- SQUARE - FOOT expansion to Wal-Mart Discount Center offers customers wider aisles and greater choices.

Wal-Mart Addition Nears Completion

The expansion of the Wal-Mart Discount Center is nearing completion according to Store Manager Herman Hoffschneider. The expansion, which began two months ago, will add an additional 15,000 square footage to the store bringing the total area to 40,000 square feet.

"Every department will be increased. More depth will be added to each of our 36 major departments. For example our ladies clothing and our sporting goods and automotive sections will double in size," Hoffschneider said.

A minimum of 15 new employees will be added. This will bring the total employees to 45-50.

Aisles in the store have been expanded and entrance ways have been widened.

The new section is to be completed soon, and an opening is planned.

A total of 4.8 million families (1.8 million of them non-white) lived in poverty areas of the 100 largest U.S. metropolitan areas in 1960, reports The World Almanac. The poverty level for a nonfarm family of four was about $3,100. Although the total number of white families in poverty areas exceeded those of the nonwhite, the proportion of nonwhite was far greater—72 per cent of nonwhites lived in poverty areas compared with 14 per cent of whites.

CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCES HELD IN SCOTT CO. EACH MONTH:
LOCATION — DOCTOR IN CHARGE
Chaffee - Dr. W. O. Finney
Illmo - Dr. Caleb Wallwork
Oran - Dr. Thelma Buckthorpe
Sikeston - Dr. Thelma Buckthorpe

Child Health Conferences held in Sikeston, Illmo, Chaffee and Oran each month made it possible for infants and preschool children to have frequent physical examinations; with needed immunizations, vitamins, advice to mothers concerning development, diet and problems. P.K.U. urine tests were performed on wet diapers of infants to look for inability of the body to utilize certain proteins, with resulting mental retardation. No positive tests were found.

One child with congenital heart disease was referred to the State Crippled Children's Service. This baby was extremely fortunate when the defect corrected itself within 6 months after it was discovered. She did, however, have exhaustive studies done at Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

Two babies in one family were referred for foot deformities that interfered with normal walking. Both, in time, will have normal feet. Our children were placed in corrective shoes at an early age as the result of examinations in our clinics; and should be spared many foot problems in the future.

Most Scott County public schools had school nurses who did most of the screening for vision and hearing. The Parochial School children and those in the Oran Consolidated District, however, had this supervised by Health Department Nurses.

One high school had a V.D. problem, and the Health Officer obtained permission from that Board of Directors to question any and all contacts so the epidemic could be stopped before other cases developed.

Tuberculin tests were done for the Day Care Center, Head-Start students, first grade, 8th grade and 12th grade students throughout the county.

Immunizations were done at regular Health Department clinics for any child needing them and who had not been able to obtain them from his family physician.

From special studies being made on children, it appears that malnourished youngsters not only have smaller bodies, but also have smaller brains with diminished learning powers. Perhaps our advice to mothers on diet, together with the vitamins we furnish, and iron when indicated, will help produce more normal people among the underprivileged.

To Be Continued.

Heat Sends K.C. City Workers Home Early for 9th Time

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the ninth time this summer employees at city hall were sent home early after the weather bureau reported the temperature had reached 100 degrees.

More than 1,300 persons work in the 29-floor city hall, which is not air conditioned. Under city policy skeletal crews are dismissed because of the heat.

On hot days employee efficiency is low long being the temperature reaches 100, Tom Lewinsohn, city personnel director, said.

The high in Kansas City Wednesday was 102. It reached 104 Tuesday.

Ford Sees Tougher Import Competition From Japanese

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — American car makers will face tougher competition from Japanese imports than from the Volkswagen as they try to sell their new subcompacts, Henry Ford II says.

"The Japanese have good styling, good quality and that makes them good competition," Ford said Tuesday. "We feel they are going to be the more difficult contenders."

Ford, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., was in Las Vegas for the introduction of the 1971 Ford and Lincoln-Mercury automobiles.

He predicted that the subcompacts would reverse the upward trend in foreign car sales in this country and that Ford's subcompact Pinto, to be unveiled Thursday, will outsell Volkswagens.

Foreign car sales rose from 12 to 13 per cent of total U.S. auto sales in the past year.

Volkswagens accounted for about half those sales. Japanese cars, primarily Toyota and Datsun, accounted for about one-third of them. American Motors was the first U.S. manufacturer into the subcompact field with its Gremlin, introduced in the spring. General Motors will introduce its subcompact Vega on Sept. 10, a day before Pinto arrives in showrooms.

The Japanese don't have the U.S. marketing experience and dealer outlets built up by Volkswagen, but Ford said he expects them to overcome those obstacles soon.

A Florida scientist said Tuesday that Datsun signed a multimillion-dollar contract with him for production rights to a freeon-powered engine that he said is pollution-free.

Ford said he had never heard of the engine.

The price of the Pinto will not be made public until shortly before it goes into the showroom, but it will be "directly competitive" with the Volkswagen and other small imports, Ford said.

Dealers have been told that but he refused to comment on the negotiations.

Roy Ivie, 34, East Prairie, driver of a 1962 Ford, received a broken nose in traffic accident on highway 80, three miles west of the Belmont Ferry in Mississippi county, Thursday at 7:50 a.m.

He told the state patrol that either a tie rod or ball joint came loose, causing him to lose control and strike a utility pole.

He was treated by a

Lincoln-Mercury models will be up 5 per cent from 1970, Ford said.

"We have had some horrendous increases in the cost of materials and labor in the past years," said Ford, "as well as increased costs for emission control and safety equipment. Price increases in the past have not equaled our increased costs."

The success of American automotive makers in the before it goes into the showroom, but it will be "directly competitive" with the Volkswagen and other small imports, Ford said.

Dealers have been told that but he refused to comment on the negotiations.

Charleston physician. An accident at 6:50 a.m. on North street in East Prairie, resulted in head cuts to Deborah Adkisson, 18, East Prairie.

The patrol said a 1965 GMC pickup truck, driven by Larry Coffey, 29, East Prairie, was parked on the street shoulder, and the Adkisson car ran into the rear of the truck.

Miss Adkisson was taken to Missouri Delta Community hospital.

She was given a summons for careless and imprudent driving, the patrol reported.

Francis Carl Berry, 76, Hayti, driver of a 1959 Chevrolet, received face cuts Thursday at 3 p.m. on the highway 84 in Hayti.

Berry was making a right turn on highway 84 from Sixth street in Hayti into the path of a 1962 Pontiac, driven by Wanda McIntyre, 16, Pascola, the patrol said.

Berry was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in Hayti.

Credibility Question In Ouster Trial

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 18 — A credibility gap may exist in the testimony of a convicted murderer in the recent ouster trial of Pemiscot County Sheriff Clyde Orton, an assistant state attorney general said Tuesday.

Thomas Crews, an inmate of the Missouri State Penitentiary in Jefferson City, testified in the June ouster trial of Sheriff Orton that in 1969 Sheriff Orton had offered him a contract for the murder of K. H. "Bud" Cook, a Caruthersville alfalfa producer.

Crews, who had been on parole at the time of the alleged contract, also testified that the subsequent revocation of his parole had been ordered by Sheriff Orton for his refusal of the contract.

The convicted murderer recently filed a petition with the state Supreme Court seeking his release from prison on the grounds that his parole had been revoked improperly. He was denied a hearing.

Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth. It will be the supreme Court, however, which will rule finally on the evidence presented in the ouster trial.

"The supreme court says that Crews' parole was revoked for reasons other than that which he stated," Mr. Rollings said. "Can you automatically reason that what he said about the supposed deal with Sheriff Orton is untrue, I don't think that follows."

All final briefs in the ouster suit have been filed with the supreme court and Judge Weightman is expected to make a recommendation to the high court prior to Sept. 1.

Rollings said that the supreme court probably will hear final arguments in the case in its November session.

Clowns Will Dish Out Circus Fun

The Sells & Gray Circus will exhibit in Sikeston Sept. 5 for performances at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Sikeston Voluntary Fire Department.

Sells & Gray is the traditional type of American Circus showing in three rings under the big top. The fast moving program features the best in circus acts and includes the Sells & Gray performing elephants and other trained animal performers both wild and domestic. Aerialists, acrobats, jugglers wire walkers, and novelty acts will thrill the youngsters from 8 to 80 and of course the circus clowns will be present to dish out fun and laughter. It's good clean family entertainment, with such stars as the Droguett Family of jugglers, Senor Miguel Ayala, King of the Silver Thread, and Senorita Margarita Vasquez, who hangs suspended from the very top of the circus tent hanging only by her hair.

The circus location is at the rodeo grounds. The public is invited to visit the circus grounds and watch the setting up activity on circus day.

Dear Bessie:
I went with a boy for over a month and we broke up three weeks ago. I went to a dance with two of my girlfriends. I danced with some boys and he got mad, and I'm not even going with him now. I still love him, but he says he wants to be free. Why doesn't he stay away? The more I see him the more I love him. He came to my house about a week ago with one of his friends and sat down. He didn't say anything, then he left. What can I do? Confused

Dear Bessie:
He seems to want both his freedom and you at the same time. What happened at the dance should give you a clue as to how to behave. Be friendly with him but play it cool. Show some interest in others. Give him a chance at his so-called freedom. From the looks of things he'll come running right back. It's obvious he feels very strongly for you but just isn't sure he wants to be tied down. Some of his own medicine might well be the cure.

Dear Bessie:
I have been going with a real swell guy for over two months. We've never had any problems until a few weeks ago when he got a phone call telling him to break up with me and ever since things have really been rotten. All we do is argue. He thinks it was my ex-boyfriend and I think it was this girl I run around with. Everyone says she's jealous.

If You Were the Judge No Injunction to Halt Name Calling

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.
Vera referred to lawyer Beagle as a learned gentleman who had rescued her mother's estate from her enemies - for himself. And she pulled no punches. She publicly called him "a crook" and "a crooked lawyer."

A sensitive man, lawyer Beagle went to court and demanded an injunction directing Vera never again to make such statements about him.

"His greatest asset," was Vera's defense, "is his lie-ability. The fact is, everything I said about him is true, even if I can't prove it. And to stop me would be to curtail my freedom of speech."

"If she can't prove it," retorted lawyer Beagle, "she shouldn't be allowed to go around defaming me. The fact is, I did an excellent job for her but, as a layman, she just doesn't appreciate it."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you give lawyer Beagle his injunction restraining Vera from calling him names in the future?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that an injunction will not be generally granted to restrain a person from committing civil wrongs such as libel and slander since the injured party has an adequate legal remedy; to wit, to sue for damages. In this case, concluded the judge, if Vera called lawyer Beagle "a crook," and can't prove it, he can sue and collect for defamation.

Duffey Wins

3-Way Senate

Primary Race

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Rev. Joseph Duffey, softspoken 38-year-old national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action and son of a West Virginia coal miner, has won a three-way primary to become the Democratic candidate for U.S. senator from Connecticut.

Duffey forged a volunteer grass roots campaign organization from the remnants of the old Eugene J. McCarthy apparatus of 1968, which he headed as state campaign chairman. The United Church of Christ clergyman will take the place on the ballot that was occupied in 1968 and 1964 by Thomas J. Dodd.

Dodd, censured by the Senate in 1966 for using campaign contributions to pay personal expenses, is running as an independent.

Duffey faces an uphill battle against both Dodd and Republican candidate Lowell P. Weicker Jr., a freshman U.S. representative. Weicker's independent voting record in Congress may have endeared him to the unaffiliated voters of Connecticut, who outnumber those of either major party.

In the primary Wednesday, Duffey defeated businessman Alphonsus J. Donahue of Stamford, who had been endorsed by the party's state convention, and state Senate Majority Leader Edward L. Marcus of New Haven.

I have the strength to face all conditions by the power that Christ gives to me. (Philippians 4:13, TEV)

PRAYER: O Father, I get into such distressing mental moods. Help me to catch the spirit of courage and optimism from persons who really have cause to see only the worst but who live victoriously. Amen.

Border Dispute Accord Reached

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Meeting in an atmosphere of fiesta, President Nixon and President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz agreed Thursday night to end 122 years of border disputes resulting from the shifting Rio Grande.

The two chief executives hoped to end territorial controversy forever between their two nations by setting the boundary between Texas and Mexico in the center of the Rio Grande.

Since the end of the Mexican War in 1848, the constant shifting of the Rio Grande has generated endless squabbling by putting small parcels of land first in one country and then in the other. After the presidential announcement, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen that the two governments had worked out a system of "compensating factors" which would come into play whenever the river bed shifts.

Details of the agreement were to be disclosed in a communique later today.

Ziegler said at present on major area is still in dispute, a tract of about 2,000 acres near Presidio, Tex.

Nixon expressed confidence that the Mexican Congress would approve the agreement. He said it would be submitted to

Hearnes Says State Income Short of Needs

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes told the state convention of Optimist International today that "the state's level of income falls short of what is needed and the result is more than a matter of providing slightly less in the way of public services than would be desirable."

"Falling short of the mark can be catastrophic. Our Medicaid program is a prime example."

"Due to the shortage of state income, the Legislature appropriated $3.1 million less (in state funds) for Medicaid than was spent in the previous fiscal year. This brought about a corresponding loss of $3.4 million in federal matching funds."

"But it also brought us into direct conflict with a federal law governing Medicaid. That law specifies that a state may not reduce its Medicaid expenditures from one year to the next or else it places in jeopardy the entire federal portion of the program."

Hearnes has asked the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliott Richardson, for his exact interpretation of the word, jeopardy.

The governor explained the problem and its possible results in a speech prepared for the convention.

"This potential catastrophe has arisen not from a condition of bankruptcy, nor from failure to recognize and meet obligations, but from a tax structure which leaves us short of the mark of properly financing public services at the state level," he said.

It was a reference to the defeat by voters last April 7 of the income tax law that would have boosted state revenues $106 million in 18 months of collections.

Missouri Schools Face Federal Milk Fund Loss

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri public schools, as well as those in the rest of the nation, face the costly possibility of losing the federal money toward cost of milk in school cafeterias, a spokesman for the State Department of Education said today.

Earl M. Langkop, director of school food services, said information from Washington indicates that if the $104 million school milk subsidy is in the final agriculture appropriation bill, "the budget director will be ordered to freeze the special milk portion of funds or restrict use to milk served to needy children only."

Langkop emphasized that only the special milk program is involved and it does not affect the milk provided for in the regular school lunch program. The special program is designed to provide additional milk.

The subsidy in the past has amounted to 4 cents on each half pint of milk. That has permitted the schools to provide the milk free to needy children and for 2 cents or 3 cents to other youngsters.

At this point, Langkop said, he has a federal notice that the milk subsidy will not continue after Aug. 31, unless a new order is issued and the nature of that order is not known.

Langkop said if schools do not receive notice of the change ahead of time they may arrange for milk deliveries and then discover they will have to pay the full price out of their already pinched budgets.

In the congressional record of July 1 President Nixon made it clear he did not favor subsidizing families of adequate income by providing low cost milk for their youngsters.

"Less than 10 per cent of the milk served goes to children from poverty families," Nixon said then.

"I am mindful of the vital importance of milk for all of our schoolchildren and also of the genuine need to keep our dairy industry strong. But I firmly believe the major portion of the funds authorized in this bill

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures fell more than 7 cents a bushel and corn 5½ cents a bushel in early dealings today.

Wheat prices were down nearly 5 cents and oats 2½ cents in every active trade.

The liquidation of corn and other commodity futures was generally linked to a statement by U.S. Agriculture Secretary Hardin denying that the government had fixed the loss to the corn crop this year at 4 per cent under its Aug. 1 estimate of 4.7 billion bushels.

On the opening, wheat was down 2¼ to 4¼ cents a bushel, September 1.52; corn was 3¼ to 5¼ cents a bushel lower, September 1.51; oats were 1¼ to 2½ cents lower, September 75 cents and soybeans were 2½ to 7¼ cents lower, September 2.80¼.

Only Kansas produces more wheat than North Dakota.

Chemicals May Aid Herbicides

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compound has the same elements as the original but possesses a higher molecular weight and has different physical properties.

The new polymers differ from those already discovered in that they break down in the presence of moisture.

The chemicals, when combined with conventional herbicides, produce a sticky resin which can be applied to plants.

The addition of moisture causes the polymer to break down, releasing the herbicide. The researchers said.

The researchers said polymers are compounds created by the union of two or more similar molecules. The new washes away much of the chemical.

Farmers thus must use ten times as much pesticide as would be normally needed, they said.

Tests of a polymerized 2,4-D on grazing lands in Kansas "showed exceptional control" of weeds at application rates of one pound per acre.

"No evidence for migration of herbicide was found," the researchers said.

Because the new chemicals break down slowly in the presence of moisture, they conceivably could be used with medicines that need to be slowly released within the body.

They also could be used in conjunction with conventional packaging materials, the researchers said.

The two scientists said "This wide class of water-degradable polymers offers great promise for the controlled release of herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, rodenticides, defoliants and pharmaceuticals."
